WAS IT A POISON SNAKE? Sometimes John Garrett would go from morning till night without bite or sup. This was three or four years ago. Every morning he got up with a disagreeable, gnawing pain in the stomach or abdomen—he couldn't quite locate it, but he felt it all the same. Still he kept on working. He meant to see a doctor but neglected it. So a year ran away. By then the complaint ha got hold of him as a wild grape

At intervals it made the sweat run off him in Then he went to bed, John did, and a doctor took him in hand, as a pilot does a ship when powers; and we stuck to each other in the navigation is growing ugly. 'My doctor,' Garrett says, 'was the best of men, but he didn't seem to know what ailed me.' Nor did the other medical man who followed him. On this our poor brother's heart sank within him, as King David's did when he heard of the fate of Abralom. Having nothing to do except to think, he thought be would go to a London hospital and ask the learned men there what was the matter with him. They said his right

She. Get it over ?

DON'T PAY THE PRICE OF PURE BER and not get it.

SCHLITZ BEER and common beer cost about the same.

Why should you not have the best?

Schlitz Beer costs twice the common kind to brew.

Why should you not have the benefit?

Schlitz Beer is pure and healthful; made of the costliest materials; brewed in absolute cleanliness; cooled in plate glass rooms; filtered, then sterilized after it is bottled and sealed.

Why pay the same for a beer that isn't?

Schlitz Beer is aged in refrigerating rooms for months before it is marketed. Does not ferment on your stomach like green beer or cause biliousness.

Why drink a beer that does?

There can be no impurity in clean beer; no microbes in sterilized beer; no headaches in aged beer. Schlitz beer has for 50 years been the standard of the world because of its healthfulness.

When you find this brand on the bottle you have the best beer money can buy.

A SCHLEY TRICK.

The following arrectors is told of Admired. Schley when he was only wlittle! emiddy': Schley's vessel had been on a b craise in the tropics, and while there the cofficers had captured two small ring-tail. ed monkeys, and had taken them aboard , 865 the ship as intscots.

When the monkeys had acquired their "sea logs" and a working know- NEW ledge of the ship, they set about to make the lives of the officers and monas miserable as they could, and being monkeys they succeeded very well. Daily their victims would be incensed to . p.m. find that the simians had paid them a ; most unappreciated visit, and had either hidden or thrown overboard some of their belongings.

. At length the officers determined that they would stand it no longer. A couneil of war, was held, during which the menkeys threw several other things to Davy Jones, and ways and means of ridding the ship of the little posts was discussed. Although the meeting was a near the Tram Terminus. Telephone 56. unit that the monkeys should be disposed of, mone of the gentlemen wanted to be constituted executioner, and the council was adjourned without arriving at a decision.

When Midshipman Schley went on deck next morning, after having been visited the preceding night by the monkeys, his eye felt upon a bucket of grease. He immediately began to associate the grease with the monkeys, and the upshoot of his' ponderings was told by the officers as follows:---

Schley hared the monkeys to him Residence. The building stands on an Tweed with something to eat, and when he got his hands on them, greased their tails well with the mess in the bucket. The monkeys seemed rather to enjoy the thing, and when Schley got through with his task they began to chase each other about the deck, as they had a habit of doing. Finally they ran up a rope and got on a spar, where they proceeded to indulge in gymnastics, which ultimately proved fatal, for, as they wrapped their tails about the spar and swung free of the ropes, they promptly slipped overboard and were lost.'

Our chief industrial rivals, America and Mr Nowrojee is the younger brother of Mr | Germany, have a great advantage over us in spite of what we call 'the spread of education, and of themoney we have spent grudgingly, yet thoughtlessly, during the last twenty-five years. The Americans (says Truction and Transmission) are especially fortunate, for though there may be less erudition than in Germany, there is more common sense. It is the American characteristic to subordinate means to an end; and the end of education in America is to equip a man for his allotted life's work. Know-Indian Constable on a charge of disorderly ledge for the sake of knowledge has less attraction for the clear-sighted American than it has for the philosophic Teuten; and though the German may thus creet a higher intellectual standard, the American makes the more formidable business competitor. Griffiths admitted the crime, but the Police | Both nations are, however, approaching each other in the field. Scholarship is fast inanother complaint against him. Bail was creasing among Americans, and German educational practice is being rapidly stripped of much of its old-time pedantry. The success of the two nations in chemical manufacture and mechanical engineering respectively is the result of national characteristics and educational methods: the former industry chiefly needing patient research, and the latter quickness of perception.

Rainwater and Waste Pipes.

At the meeting of the Sanitary Board held yesterday, the following suggested amendment of Bye-law No. 30 of the Drainage Bye-laws contained in Schedule R of Ordinance No. 13 of 1901 was submitted: - Rain water pipes and wastepipes from baths, sinks, and other similar appliances on the upper floors of buildings shall be o cast-iron socketted pipes or wrought-iron welded pipes with screwed joints coated with bituminous composition, or in the case of wrought-iron, galvanised; or o well-glazed stoneware socketted pipes o others approved materials, securely fixed outside the wall, and provided at each point of connection with a suitable head and at their lower extremity with a bend shoe, or pedestal pipe. All joints of stoneware pipes to be made in the manner pro vided by No. 5 of these live-laws. Provided that waste-pipes and rain-water pipes abutting on any street shall be of cast-iron welded wrought iron, properly jointed in coment, and wherever practicable rainwater pipes shall be carried under the footpath and discharged into the side channel. The matter had been referred to the different architects for opinion, and two recom mendations practically were received.

the result of discussion, it appeared impracticable to joint the cast-iron pipes with lead, and it was agreed that cement should be the material used. One firm of architects suggested that iron pipes should be required only in public streets, and is view of the large number of streets owned by private individuals which are important thoroughfares it was deemed better to ful in its work, and everywhere I go shall provide an exemption which the Board could grant occasionally rather than give a general exemption as to the use of pipes other than iron. On the motion of Dr Clark, seconded by Mr. W! Chatham. Director of Public Works, the amended bye-law was unanimously passed.

An Exciting Naval Battle. Notwithstanding the thousands naval men who are at present wintering in Hongkong, matters naval have been 'dull as ditch-water,' and it has been left to : number of Chinese to provide us with some excitement in the Harbour. Wanchai was out in full force yesterday afternoon, and dined the Fraya there watching for a time a fierce struggle waging between the crew of a lighter and the watchmen on board houseboat belonging to Messrs J. Hastings and C. Mc. I. Messer, both well-known local gentlemen. The lighter was manned by twelve of the hands employed by Shun Lee, boat hullder. The only men on board the 'househoat were three watchmen employed by A King, boatbuilder. Great rivalry exists between the hands of the respective heatyards, and, naturally, when, during the night, one of the boats, belonging to the 'yacht' drifted on to Shun Lee's shore and was taken away again in the morning without any payment of indemnity, considerable feeling was engendered. The lighter, loaded up with mud and stones and manned by a dozen men, sallied forth to the attack. 'Language' was exchangbut the three men on the houseboat refused to be coved into sub by their more numerous and enraged rivals. Stones and mud were pelted volley after volley at the bouse boat, and what landed on deck was promptly returned. As the lighter got to closer quarters, bars were used, and the three watchmen fought desperately against the overwhelming foc. Both sides wielded their weapons regardless of consequences. and blood and bruises were the order of the day. The windows on the port side of the house boat were smashed in, and other damage was done. The fight was still undecided and at its hottest pitch when the Police swarmed round, and the fifteen combatants were seized by their pigtails and ignominiously conveyed to the lock-up.

British Bluejacket Charged with Murder.

The Bangkok Times (27th Dec.) says: termination, occurred last night at a house situation in the short street off New-road opposite H. B. M. Legation. It is said that it about 90'clock some men from the Daphne and a youth named Mr Pat. O'Donoghue went to the house there occupied by Mr Labailiff, and after some conversation one of the sailors is said to have made straight for M. Palameiri, who was in the house a the time, and to have stabled him in the chest just over the heart. The sailor then ran out of the house, followed by the other inmates. It was then seen that there were in all about four sailors. The injured man ran after his assailant, who ontered H.B.M. Legation compound. Owing to the serious nature of the injury, he was not, however, able to proceed very far, and fell down through exhaustion, dying before thearrival of medical aid. The police were at once notified; and arrested Mr O'Donoghue at midnight for being concerned in the affair. The Consulate officials and officers from the gunboat did their best to effect the arrest of the murderer, and three men were
